PART 4: Data Breach Management

4.1 Introduction

A Data breach may happen for a number of reasons, including:

- Loss or theft of equipment on which Data is stored
- Inappropriate access controls allowing unauthorised use
- Equipment failure
- Human error e.g. misaddressing an email

- Unforeseen circumstances such as a flood or fire
- Computer hacking
- Access where information is obtained by deception (e.g. 'social engineering' where a person in conversation, extracts confidential information from another, without having an entitlement to that information)

4.2 Management of a Data Breach in Business to Arts

There are three elements to managing a Data breach:

1. Incident Details
2. Notification of Data Breach & Risk Assessment
3. Evaluation and Response

4.2.1 Incident Details

Details of the incident should be recorded accurately by the reporter of the incident, including:

- Date and time of the incident
- Date and time it was detected
- Who reported the incident and to whom it was reported
- Description of the incident. The type of Data involved and how sensitive it is
- The number of individuals affected by the breach
- Was the Data encrypted?
- Details of any Information Technology (IT) systems involved
- Corroborating material

4.2.2 Notification of Data Breach & Risk Assessment

Internal Notification

- A Data breach must be reported without delay to the Data Protection Officer with the Incident Details
- The Data Protection Officer will assess the incident details and the risks involved, including:
 - What type of Data is involved?
 - How sensitive is the Data involved?
 - How many individuals' Personal Data are affected by the breach?
 - Were there protections in place e.g. encryption?
 - What are the potential adverse consequences for individuals and how serious or substantial are they likely to be?
 - How likely is it that adverse consequences will materialize?

External Notification

- It is best practice to inform the Office of the Data Protection Commissioner (ODPC) immediately. (This allows the ODPC to advise, at an early stage, on how best to deal with the aftermath of a Data breach, and also to ensure that there is no repetition. It also allows the ODPC to reassure those who may be affected by a Data breach that the ODPC is aware of it and that Business to Arts is taking the issue seriously).
- The Data Protection Officer will be responsible for contacting the ODPC at 1890-252-231 or info@dataprotection.ie to inform them of the Data breach.

- The Data Protection Officer in consultation with the Office of the Data Protection Commissioner (ODPC), will decide in the particular circumstance, if it is appropriate to inform the persons whose Data has been breached. In this regard, Business to Arts will be aware of the dangers of 'over notifying', as not every incident will warrant notification
- When notifying individuals, the DBMT will consider the most appropriate medium for doing so. It will bear in mind the security of the medium for notification and the urgency of the situation. Specific and clear advice will be given to individuals affected by the Data breach, on the steps they can take to protect themselves and, what Business to Arts is willing to do in order to assist them. Business to Arts will also provide a contact person for further or ongoing information.
- The Data Protection Officer will also consider notifying third parties, such as An Garda Síochána, bank or credit companies who can assist in reducing the adverse consequences to the Data Subject.

4.2.3 Evaluation & Response

Subsequent to any data/information security breach, a thorough review of the incident will be made by the Data Protection Officer. The purpose of this review will be to:

- Ensure that the steps taken during the incident were appropriate
- Describe and record the measures being taken to prevent a repetition of the incident
- Identify areas that may need to be improved
- Document any recommended changes to policy and/or procedures which are to be implemented as soon as possible thereafter.
